

Irresistible with Pizzazz

Thursday, 18 October 2007

It is weekend again - time to relax and have some fun - Hang out with friends, maybe go to a party or on a date... Maybe it is a first date and you desperately want to impress...

Everybody wants to be irresistible, attractive and wanted but not all of us are Brad Pitt, Demi Moore or JLo. You don't have to be. You don't need to have the body or the looks of a movie star to be irresistibly sexy. All you need is to be self confident and self aware. In the end - real attraction isn't about how perfect your facial features are or how lean your rear end is.

That irresistible magnetism comes from the way you move, the energy you project, the way you manage to catch his or her attention. It's all about ATTITUDE!

By simply changing the way you stand or walk, the way you look at someone or flash them a smile, you can blow their minds instantly! They will find you irresistibly sexy and alluring. All you have to do is to learn the few easy to follow principles of The Pizzazz Factor

I know you have some insecurities - we all do. I find that when I start feeling shy or intimidated my posture changes. I immediately want to hide and I think I can do so by dropping my chin and my shoulders.... but that is no way to stand your ground!

Enchant the opposite seks with your Pizzazz Factor and hypnotic appeal, and whether you are going on a first date or simply a romantic night with your better half of many years - he/she will be astounded and extremely attracted to your new-found coolness and unmistakable self-confidence.

Think it sounds impossible? IT IS NOT!!

Now you can also have that Irresistible Magnetism of the movie stars, you'll draw people to you and believe me - the opposite seks will find you fascinatingly sexy.

Take that step now! Reveal your inner-confidence, that Dynamic You that has been hiding behind your own insecurities.

Have a wonderful weekend and go flaunt what you've got!