

Shades of You

Monday, 26 November 2007

Life isn't one-dimensional and neither are you.

You should embrace your personality... you are three dimensional and like a brilliant painting your personality consists of many different shades of color, light and dark, and various different textures.

It is all the different aspects of you that makes you unique, and your uniqueness is what makes you special. You are like no other. You are colorful just like the painters palette you have many colors and many shades!

You should embrace that and get to know that - get to know you. Get to know all the nuances of who you are and be that person wholeheartedly and proudly. With the self-assuredness that you gain from truly knowing yourself... that is when you can exhibit your Magnetic Charisma and your Powerful Presence - Your Pizzazz Factor.

When you look at a painting - a masterpiece, you will notice that it is the contrast of the dark colors that make the bright and light colors seem so brilliant and like with any masterpiece, every time you look at it you might notice something different about it.

Just like that, different aspects of you are being emphasized every day. You need to embrace all the shades of you and you will see that they are all beautiful. When you walk proud and you feel confident and comfortable with who you are... that is when you radiate.

But remember - every great artist uses great tools to create their paintings. A good canvas, good paint and quality brushes. Some paintings take days, months and even years and evolve as the painter creates it.

The Pizzazz Factor gives you the quality tools to create your painting - except your painting is never complete and ever changing and growing... but that is what makes it so exciting.

Don't be afraid to be who you are and to be proud of that. Yes, we all are constantly evolving and that is why it is such an exciting ride that reveals different shades of you. Set the self-confident you free - Remember - you are a painting that is evolving into a masterpiece.

Let the Pizzazz Factor help you shine and stand out just like the vivid and bright colors of a painting. Discover the masterpiece that is you!

You have the Power!

Kind Regards

Vanessa Bader
