

Empty Thought, Empty Motions

Sunday, 28 January 2007

Have you ever watched a beautiful dance routine or listened to a breathtaking piece of music that stirred your emotions? Have you ever stopped to think what it was about that music or dance routine that impressed you? Was it the technical difficulty and acrobatics that moved you? I bet it wasn't. See, the musician and the dancer have put emotion and thought behind every movement and every note. THAT is what made it special.

Body Language is like any art form. Without true emotion and feeling your creation is going to be boring and disappointing. Like the concert pianist or the saxophonist or the dancer put thought and passion into their art, you have to pour passion in to your movements - your Body language has to be filled with the energy that is YOU!

Once you know the basic movements and you've mastered them, you need to make sure there is sincere thought and feeling behind every gesture, otherwise you will lose your audience, just like the dancer or pianist would.

The dancers' routine needed her/his own touch to be enticing and moving, you too need to own your body language to captivate those around you. Remember, empty thoughts create empty motions, and empty motions are boring and lack magnetism and presence.

The Pizzazz Factor will show you the easy way to all these secrets, and in a matter of days you can start applying these valuable skills into your daily life. Feel great about yourself, draw people to you, captivate a room. Do yourself this one little favor. Get the Pizzazz Factor today.
